

3-3. Knowledge is Power (And Contrariwise)

Our company takes full advantage of the internet, that globe-girdling grid through which packets of information race at lightning speed, day in and day out. Your first job is to put answers into our network below. The arrows will then indicate a set of letters, and what to do to them in the network; first, though, be sure to copy the important data to a secure location off-site.
