

1-4. Company Records

You and the VP of Merchandise exchanged some furious four-letter words, resulting in you doing errands for the big boss.

In the middle of the afternoon, while running an errand for the boss, you discover a circular piece of paper in one of the folders. On each side is one of the two grids below. When done solving, you may want to cut out the grid and fold on the dotted line.

In addition, the following instructions and clues can be found attached on a separate piece of paper.

Answers to the clues below are all six letter words or phrases. They should be entered in jumbled order, from the innermost circle to the outermost ring. The innermost circle is a letter shared by 32 answers, the two spaces in the next ring are shared by 16 answers each, and so on. 1-Front and 1-Back apply to the specific front and back of the grid, as do 17-Front and 17-Back. For all other numbers, clues may appear in either order. When finished, solvers may wish to focus on the outer ring.
