

On The Road Again

Where: Rental Agency

In the aftermath of your meal of goat head's soup, you clean off your sticky fingers and head over to the rental agency, passing by some girls wearing black n blue outfits. They suggest you hire a driver, as the roads can be incredibly treacherous. "We'd have to be out of our heads to drive around here." The driver assures you that the car will have no difficulty, thanks to the numerous chains on the car and the steel wheels. "It's dirty work sir, but it beats working undercover."

Once on the road, the driver turns on the radio (pausing between the buttons and muttering "it's only rock and roll"). As you listen to the same band over and over again, you begin to tune out all of those repetitious words.

68 * 64 * 72 * 94 * 78

66 * 97 * 67 * 95 * 80 * 69