People wonder what I do all day to relieve the stress of being an engineer. I play 005 ymmur, a reverse engineering of a Games Magazine puzzle type.

Rummy 500 rules: Form 7-letter words by taking valid gin rummy hands (3 of a kind and 4-card sequence, or a 3-card sequence and 4 of a kind). Sequences must be in the same suit (e.g., ♥A234) and in order, cards of the same rank may be used in any order. Either the sequence or matching set may be used first. Aces are 1 point, face cards 10, and other cards their face value. In 005 ymmur, you are given the words found in the grid and must complete the grid. Suits in parenthesis indicate what suit the sequence is in. Some ambiguity may exist in the final grid.
