

Fun in the Mud!

Where: Mud Spa

At the end of the highway, you see the entrance to a spa, and decide to partake. The employees inside however aren't dressed like normal. They all wear furry caps and fake beards. One of them explains that the spa is based on Elbonia, land of Mud, popularized by Scott Adams in his comic strip Dilbert. Someone has apparently torn up some of his work and left it scattered on the floor of the foyer.

(All of the images above were borrowed without permission and belong to United Features Syndicate, Inc. Dilbert, Ratbert, Catbert, etc. are trademarks of United Features Syndicate, Inc.)